

FAIRBANKS WORKS IN CAUSE OF ART

ing to Establish County Art Exhibit Throughout the State.

H. Fairbanks, the artist, has returned from Utah county, where he has been producing a "County Art Exhibit" which he has to see established not only there, but in all of the larger counties of the plan is to have each school district purchase a painting which shall be five or six specimens of the work of the students and what-pictures might be borrowed from artists of the state, would compose a traveling exhibit that shall be into every district of the county short stay once each year. After collection of pictures and drawings has on exhibition in a school for a week and then it is to be sent on to the school.

According to the plan, on the opening of the exhibit in any or afternoon of the exhibit in any of the parents as well as the chil-will celebrate the event with suitable exercises, a feature of which will be the showing of the painting which has been bought to add to the county art. When any picture has made the circuit of the county it will be sent to the school which contributed it and a new picture will be unveiled and on its round. With each yearly of the exhibit to a district a new work of art by the students will be sent and started on its journey to the district.

This way, after the exhibit is well under way, each district will see a complete new collection of works every year, for those paintings which are most desirable to send the round more often. This plan will give the public as well as the children an opportunity to study and see the work of the artists, as well as original works by local artists, and also will enable each district to compare the work of its own pupils with those of other districts in the county.
Fairbanks reports that all of the districts he has visited have approved his plan and have promised to give assistance and enterprise. Governor William Spry, Nelson, state superintendent of public instruction, J. Preston Crook, superintendent of Utah county schools, together with four former superintendents of the county, have endorsed the movement, according to Mr. Fairbanks, who is hopeful the exhibit can be put into operation in several counties of the state.

EXPERTS ARE LOOKING FOR SITE

W. Chambers, state fish and game commissioner, returned yesterday morning from the northern part of the state, where he made a two days' trip in company with R. S. Johnson, the government game warden. Yesterday afternoon Mr.
Chambers visited the Murray and Cottonwood districts. In all, fourteen sites, six in Utah county, have been inspected.
Mr. Johnson, four are in Utah county, one in Wasatch county, two in Cache county and one in Weber county.
